

DON MONEY

Editor

Having worked as an actor for several years, Don has a unique eye for editing. He prides himself on extracting the most powerful performances from actors without compromising the story's narrative. With a balanced mix of feature, television, and documentary projects to his name, and some added experience working as both post-production and VFX supervisor, Don's background is as unique as it is diverse. Based in Los Angeles, he's available for work worldwide.
