

JAMES SWIFT

Director of Photography

With his second film with director Simeon Halligan about to be released, in addition to recent credits on the Netflix show 'Black Mirror' and the BBC's 'The A Word', James's trajectory through the camera department is the result of a combination of twelve years of operating and sheer determination. He's proved himself on two recent features, 'Bloodlands' for which he was awarded the Best Cinematography prize at Screamfest 2014 and 'Habit', due to be released in 2017. Well-liked and well-regarded, James is also increasingly busy working in the world of commercials, promos and corporates. He is based in London and available for work worldwide.
