

CHRISTOPHER JOLLEY

Screenwriter

From when he was a child, Chris always wanted to be a writer, and a chance meeting with director and producer Steven M Smith led to his first major writing project 'Essex Boys: Law of Survival'.

And through forays into UK micro-budget films, he got to work with director Ryuhei Kitamura (The Midnight Meat Train) on the horror feature 'The Price We Pay', starring Stephen Dorff, Emile Hirsch and Gigi Zumbado and for which he got both story and writing credit. The film received its worldwide premiere at London FrightFest.

Christopher now has several exciting projects in active development, such as the horror-comedy 'Spider Island', directed by Christopher Smith (Black Death), and production recently wrapped on survival thriller 'Savage Hunt', directed by Roel Reine (Halo, Black Sails).

He has also worked with several notable creatives, including producer Ben Jacques (One Shot, Accident Man), producers Jordan Fields and Ko Mori of Shout! Studios, screenwriter Chad Law and director Kyle Kauwika Harris (The Huntsman).
